

Utilisation d'Altium dans les salles de Télécom Physique Strasbourg

10 licences Altium sont disponibles en réseau. Vous avez besoin d'utiliser une licence pour votre session.

Pour cela à l'ouverture d'Altium, il faut aller sur l'onglet « MyAccount » qui s'ouvre au démarrage d'Altium. Si ce n'est pas le cas, il faut y accéder par l'onglet du menu : DXP > My Account.

Le nombre de licences disponible en réseau est affiché dans la colonne « Assigned Seat Count » et vous avez un Warning (encadré en rouge) :

The screenshot shows the 'License Management' window. At the top, it says 'My Account - not signed in'. Below that, there are links for 'Sign in', 'Forgotten password?', and 'Account preferences'. A section titled 'Available Licenses - Unlicensed' contains a red warning box: 'Warning: You are not using a valid license. Click Sign in to retrieve the list of available licenses.' Below the warning is a table with the following data:

Product Name	Activation Code	Used	Assigned Seat Count	Expiry	Status	Subscription Status
Altium Designer	CSTM-D7NQ	-	0/10	4-fevr.-2020	OK	Valid to 4-fevr.-2020

Below the table, there are several action buttons: 'Use', 'Roam', 'Release', and 'Refresh'. A black arrow points to the 'Use' button with the text 'Cliquez ici'. To the right, there are links for 'Save standalone license file', 'Add standalone license file', 'Setup private license server', and 'Disconnect from private license server'. Further right, there are links for 'Extensions and updates', 'How to use an on-demand license', 'How to use a standalone license', and 'How to use a private server license'. At the bottom, it says 'Connected to primary private license server. You are not using any license.'

Pour utiliser une licence, cliquez sur Use comme indiqué ci-dessous :

This is a close-up of the 'Use' button in the license management interface. A black arrow points to the button with the text 'Cliquez ici'. The surrounding interface elements are partially visible, including the 'Warning' box and the 'Available Licenses' table.

La licence devient utilisée comme on peut le voir dans la colonne « Used » :

The screenshot shows the 'License Management' window after the license has been used. The status has changed to 'Available Licenses - Licensed to My Organization. License subscription valid to 3-fevr.-2020.' The table now shows:

Product Name	Activation Code	Used	Assigned Seat Count	Expiry	Status	Subscription Status
Altium Designer	CSTM-D7NQ	Used by me	1/10	4-fevr.-2020	OK	Valid to 3-fevr.-2020

The 'Use' button is still present, and the text at the bottom now says 'Connected to primary private license server. You are using one license.'

Vous pouvez utiliser Altium !